Susan G. Komen for the Cure Honors Allegheny General's Harriet Gudenburr, RN, for Extraordinary Commitment to Breast Cancer Patients and the Community

April 21, 2010

Allegheny General Hospital's Harriet Gudenburr, RN, is the 2010 recipient of the Pittsburgh Affiliate of Susan G. Komen for the Cure's PNC Community Caring Award, honoring her many years of caring for oncology patients and helping women with breast cancer make informed decisions about treatment.

Ms. Gudenburr, Manager, Outpatient Services at AGH, has spent nearly half of her 46 years in the nursing profession caring for oncology patients, consistently combining a personal attachment to patients with outstanding clinical skills.

"I genuinely love my patients," Ms. Gudenburr said. "If I can't interact with patients, it's not the right job for me."

Ms. Gudenburr will receive the award Wednesday, April 21 at "A Celebration of the Promise," an evening of recognition and appreciation at LeMont Restaurant on Pittsburgh's Mount Washington. Jim Rohr, Chairman and CEO of PNC Financial Services Group, will also receive the inaugural Terri L. Chapman Award at the event.

Ms. Gudenburr manages the Informed Decision Making program at AGH, an innovative and nationally recognized program that helps women make decisions about breast cancer treatment.

A diagnosis of breast cancer can be numbing, and medical appointments often become a blur for the patient. Ms. Gudenburr and her team help patients understand their diagnosis and their treatment options, so that they are as well-informed as possible before they first meet with a surgeon. (To read more on this topic visit www.wpahs.org)
